Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

"This ain't no horse and buggy war," as the old timers would say. It is right up to the minute. In fact the United States invented two of the machines which make it an up-to-date war. One might almost say that Uncle Sam coached the Nazis in the game of war, by making tractors, then armor plating them for the first half of the world war way back in 1917, and, a long time ago at Kittyhawk, by making planes that would fly.

Once these primary things were made, undoubtedly the military talent of several nations have devised many improvements, but military talent does not run to producing things that are original and basic. In fact, of all professions in the world, probably nothing is more sterile than purely military training. Inventors, scientists and technicians behind the lines are the sources for newer and more deadly weapons. The military brain produces order but seldom progress.

One wonders whether all the machines now used in war have promoted the real business of war, which is killing. One vaguely remembers that in the battle of Gettisburg, the old fashioned musket and bayonet took an enormous toll of life on both sides. Are our machines any more devastating than human energies and courage gave to the weapons of the Civil War. Occasionally we do hear of some of that primitive kind of fighting. The Australians the other day, gave the Japs a taste of cold steel for which apparently the little brown brothers were unprepared. In Mozhaisk the Russians are forcing the Germans out of that strategic city by hand to hand fighting. But on land, it is extremely doubtful whether the machines, tanks, airplanes, flamethrowers, etc., actually maim and kill to the extent that the more primitive weapans did in the days when the Romans used the short sword to conquer their known world, or the musket and bayonet, did only three generations ago. It would be an astounding paraox if a careful comparison of battle results in times past with those of the present, should reveal that machines have made war safer for soldiers.

On the sea, however, the story is quite different, for the reason that in the small area of a ship large numbers of fighters are congregated. When a troop ship goes down with a couple of thousand soldiers aboard and a crew of a hundred or more, far from land and with no life boats or rafts surviving the disaster, the death toll is undoubtedly higher than it was in the old days of sailng vessels and cannon that only fired solid shot. The modern submarine torpedo, the aerial bomb and torpedo and the high explosive shell bring to sea fighting an increased harvest of death. This is usually impossible in land fighting because the same number of fighters are scattered over a much wider area and explosives put comparatively few out of action unless shell fire and bombing is concentrated and continued for a considerable time in a given area. It is this vast expenditure for guns and shells that makes the machine age of war so costly.

It will be noted also that, if modern machines of destruction have made wars safer for soldiers, probably more dangerous for sailors and certainly for aviators, that methods of preserving life have also been devised to reduce fatalities greatly. Sailors and marines wear life belts which are inflated by filling with air before they take to the water. Plane pilots and air fighters are equipped with parachutes for abandoning ship and floating to earth or sea, and if the latter, with life belts and sometimes inflatable rubber boats. A far larger percentage of those wounded are saved by modern surgery and curative processes, than was the case in the Civil War, for instance, when inflamation of wounds was prevented sometimes by permitting water to fall drop by drop upon the injured member.

The world doth move, even in its most destructive and suicidal activities. Science and invention march abreast of the engines of destruction, killing or rescuing the children of men, who, through the ages, have sought peace, only to lose it.

Idaho-Maryland Mines Continues As Leading Gold Producer Of State

UNITED STATES BUREAU OF MINES REPORTS SMALL GOLD PROPERTIES GRADUALLY SUSPENDING OPERATIONS

Nevada County during 1941 continued to hold its position as banner gold producing county of California and the Idaho-Maryland Mines Corporation for the third successive year was the state's leading producer of the yellow metal.

This was revealed from figures released by the United States Bureau of Mines.

The figures revealed last year California produced $49,413,000 in gold, compared with $50,948,485 in 1940.

The loss in California's gold production, which had been on the upswing since 1930, was attributed by Charles White Merrill, bureau statistician, to the abandonment of many small mining operations, principally by individuals.

Among the twenty five principal gold producers, the decline in production was less than .1 of 1 per cent.

"It is clear therefore," Merrill remarked, "that the decline in California gold production was borne by the smaller producers. Evidence substantiating this is furnished by the custom mill operators, who report the total monthly receipts from small operators late in 1941, were, in most instances, far below 1940 averages.

"Rising wages, the migration of miners to defense jobs, rising costs of supplies and materials and difficulties in obtaining them, higher taxes and a fixed price for gold were all factors likely to continue their adverse effect on California gold mining."

California last year produced less gold, silver and copper and more lead and zinc. In Nevada, gold production was slightly less but the yields of silver, copper, lead and zinc all were materially greater.

The Empire-Star Mines, Ltd., operator of the Empire, Pennsylvania, North Star, Murchie and Zeibright Mines in this county and the Pennsylvania Mine in Brown's Valley, remained in second position as far as gold production in this state is concerned.

A large output also was recorded by the Lava Cap Gold Mining Corporation from its Banner and Central properties and by Cooley Butler from the Golden Center and Scotia Mines.

Mines in the Mother Lode section of El Dorado, Amador, Calaveras, Tuolumne and Mariposa Counties included several outstanding gold producers during the year. The largest increase in gold production among all of the larger mines of the state was reported by the Middle Fork Gold Mining Company's Silver Mine near the north end of the Mother Lode. In Amador County, the Central Eureka Mining Company increased its production as compared with 1940 and was the largest gold producer in the county.

California's silver production was set at $1,526,756, slightly less than the 1940 record of $1,678,063. Practically all of the silver was a by-product of gold mining operations, with some being recovered from copper and tungsten operations. The Lava Cap Mines in Nevada County were leading producers of silver.

Register Wells And Springs For National Defense

Register wells and springs for national defense.

This is urged by Max Solaro who wants to know the location of springs and wells so he can include it in information he is compiling for national defense purposes. The wells and springs would be the source of water supply in an event of disaster and the failure of the city water system.

Bob Graham drove him back to the bay Monday evening.

We hope to have frequent visits from Reg in the future. His cheerful optimistic view of our present unhappy condition is a good nerve tonic.

DECISION GIVEN IN MINE CASE

The third district court of appeal in Sacramento ruled that the owner of mineral rights near the surface has the right to mine them in the accepted manner of the times even though the surface rights of another are disturbed.

The rule was established in affirming the decision of the Amador County Superior Court in the case of Krsto Trkjla and Jovanka Triklja vs. J. A Keys, et al.

The Trkljas contended their surface rights were being harmed by the mining operations of the defendant owners of the mineral rights and sought injunctive relief.

The appellate court held that inasmuch as hydraulicking, ground sluicing and dragline dredging, the accepted methods for mining gold near the surface, do disturb the surface of the ground and have since their inception, the defendants are entitled to mine in the usual way despite the disturbance of surface rights.

ENEMY ALIENS MUST REGISTER HERE, FEB. 2-7

Attorney General Francis Biddle today announced new regulations affecting the conduct of German, Italian and Japanese nationals throughout continental United States.

The new regulations, issued under authority of the presidential proclamation of January 14, 1942, relating to alien enemies, require all German, Italian and Japanese aliens to apply at the nearest first or second class, or county seat, post office for a Certificate of Identification. The requirement applies to all enemy nationals 14 years of age or over who have not yet taken the oath of allegiance before a federal judge, the final step in acquiring American citizenship.

The identification program, which will affect approximately 1,100,000 German, Italian and Japanese noncitnzens, will be directed by Earl G. Harrison, former Director of Alien Registration and now a Special Assistant to the Attorney General advising on alien problems.

The regulations provide for two separate periods for the submitting of applications for identity certificates, as follows:

1. All German, Italian and Japanese nationals residing in the states of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Utah and

War Relief Quota Here Is Reached

TRUCKEE SUBSCRIPTIONS HELP IN ATTAINING $2,000 GOAL

R. J. Bennetts, chairman of the Nevada City Red Cross War Relief drive, happily reported today this city's quota of $2,000 has been subscribed.

Subscriptions have reached approximately $30 beyond the $2,000 quota and additional pledges are expected to bring the total even higher. However, Bennetts reported every little bit is needed and it is not too late to add to the war relief funds. The drive will officially close on February 26.

Chairman Bennetts reported $293 was received from Truckee yesterday with more expected. Truckee is within the boundaries of the Nevada City Red Cross Chapter.

Chairman Bennetts today expressed his sincere thanks to everyone who helped in attaining the Nevada City war relief quota.

Serving Of Hot Lunches Begins At School Here

The Nevada City Elementary PTA worked hard for months to secure funds for a hot kitchen program at the local grammar school.

Their hard work seemed infinitesimal to the joy they experienced when they saw the school children trudge into the dining room, built adjoining the regular school building, for their first hot noon meal Monday.

The children really relished the body-building food set before them. All plates were empty at the close of the meal and each glass o milk had been consumed.

The hot lunches are provided to the children at 40 cents per week. The meals consist of food with high vitamin content.

The kitchen is operated under the supervision of school Health Nurse Isabel Hefelfinger with Mrs. Moody as the cook. Members of the high school economics class serve the meals to the children.

The hot noon lunch is followed out in the larger cities and has received endorsement from health and school authorities. The program is expected to be a huge success here.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBOR

Big cities have a reputation for being places where near neighbors seldom know each other. Apartments, row on row, somehow can be just as isolated from each other by six-inch partitions as remote Montana ranch homes are isolated from each other by mountain ranges.

The necessities of war are bringing about a change toward friendlier, more neighborly attitudes; the threat of air raids brings the need to associate in mutual defense.

In some cities an unusual social experiment is being made. Residents of single blocks are getting together primarily to discuss their own local defense problems; they are discussing other human interests too and forming friendship that wouldn't have had a chance under normal conditions. The experiment is believed to have begun in San Francisco, fathered, editorially at least, by young Bill Simons, columnist on the Chronicle.

The idea has caught on like wildfire. Neighborhood meetings are bringing together people who haven't spoken in years, to work together in a great common cause—people who had mistaken each other's diffidence and reserve for coldness. They are discussing other neighborhood matters as well as the war—and out of these democratic gatherings will come great good.

Thinking men and women of all walks of life have been hoping through a discordant decade for such an awakening of genuine man-to-man unity in this country. Out of the evil of war may come the means of breaking down the barriers which heretofore have helped prevent such unity.—Contributed.

WE LEAD IN THE MARCH OF DIMES

Californians have a proud record in the national annual drive for funds to finance the war to control and exterminate infantile paralysis.

In the March of Dimes campaigns of 1938, 1939 and 1940, California led all other states in contributions, and last year was tied for the lead only by the populous and wealthy State of New York.

From now until the campaign reaches its climax with the President's birthday balls January 30th, replicas of the legendary "wishing wells" will be set up in all communities of the nation as depositories for dimes.

This year, California has local defense expenses above those of any other state because of her exposed position to possible Japanese attack and her lengthy coast line. But by digging a little deeper in the war-drained purse, by economizing a little more stringently, this community and all communities should be able to continue generous support in the fight against the dread disease which strikes hardest at our children. No state has passed us in the last four years. Let's make it five years straight by leading the nation's March of Dimes in 1942. —Contributed.

LETTERS FROM HOME

The proposal that Congress grant to soldiers, sailors and marines on duty overseas free use of the mails in writing home is a commendable plan. But it doesn't touch upon the really serious problem of the mails, as lonely boys at war know it. That problem is the constant shortage in personal letters from home. Frank M. Veale, United Service Organizations club director at San Luis Obispo, stated the case in a recent appeal through the press:

"In these days of strain and stress our boys in the service of our country are not apt to write many letters, but they do crave to get them. Last week I heard of one of the boys of the 40th Division who during his eight months in camp had not received a letter. Finally he did get a letter from a lady for whom he had once worked. It so affected him that he broke down and cried. One of the greatest ways to strengthen the morale of the men in the armed forces is to keep them reminded that the people at home are interested in them.

"I know that thousands upon thousands of letters will be written and never answered; but we should keep up a constant barrage of cheering letters to these men who are now literally on the firing line."

Free postage should be granted those faraway fighting men, by all means. But the paramount need, until the boys are home, will remain a steady, cheery, generous flood of personal letters from home.—Contributed.

BOOK DRIVE OFF TO GOOD START

"Keep 'em reading," has taken its place beside such slogans as "Keep 'em flying."

The city librarian, Mrs. Iva Williamson reports that the Victory Book campaign is going forward very satisfactorily. More than 200 books have already been donated by Nevada City people. It is hoped that the same genrosity will prevail for the remainder of the drive which expires February 12.

There is an urgent need for popular novels, travel, adventure, biography, and up-to-date technical works. Western and mystery stories are also in demand, as well as text books on algebra, arithmetic, higher mathematics and grammar.

Books may be left at the corner of Pine and Commercial street in what was formerly the Rose Dress Shop. This place will be open every afternoon between 1:30 and 4:30 p. m. or they may be left at the city library open every day from noon until 9 p. m. A list of book donors will be published later.

His information will be of interest to every one and a large attendance is urged.

Ninety-two Nevada County miners are scheduled to leave Grass Valley Monday for Hawaii, where they will be employed on a national defense project.

Annual Episcopal Business Meeting Here Well Attended

Trinity Episcopal Church held its annual dinner and business meeting last Monday night in the Methodist Hall. About 90 Episcopaleans turned out for the affair to hear Bishop Noel Porter and Archdeacon Rex A. Barron give inspirational addresses to the people.

Rev. David Ralston of the Methodist Church, Mayor Benjamin Hall and Rev. Cedric S. Porter of Trinity Church were also on the program.

Reports were submitted by Mrs. A. B. Innis for St. Agnes Guild; Mrs. Charles Walker for Trinity Guild; Mrs. Benjamin Hall for Trinity Altar Guild; Mrs. Carl Libbey fo the choir; and Miss Elma Hecker for the Sunday School.

The spirit of fellowship was evident at the dinner, and all reports were optimistic for the progress of Trinity during 1942.

Mrs. Paul Kemper, chairman of the committee which arranged the dinner was highly praised for her efficient work, as were her committee members and the high school girls who served the dinner.

Carl Libbey, Leland Smith and G. E. Mitchell were elected to replace three retiring vestrymen, William Home, Mrs Helen Sawyer and Miss Ruth Hutchison. The three new members will serve on the vestry with Benjamin Hall, Charles Elliott, Clarence LaBoyteaux, Arthur Innis, H. S. Foreman, Lloyd Dudley, Paul Kemper and Mrs. Alfred Wallbrecht.

MORE ENEMY ALIENS

Idaho are required to file application at the nearest first or second class, or county seat, post offife between Februry 2 and February 7, 1942, inclusive.

2. All German, Italian and Japanese nationals residing elsewhere in continental United States are required to file applications at the nearest first or second class, or the county seat, post office between February 9 and February 28, 1942, inclusive.

Failure to comply with the new regulation may be punished by severe penalties, including possible internment of the enemy alien for the duration of the war.

The regulations require enemy aliens, in applying for identification certificates, to provide a photograph of themselves (to be attached to the identity card) and to answer a number of questions concerning their current activities. Printed directions for the filing of applications will shortly be available at post offices.

The regulations provide that after a careful check has been made of each application, the applicant will be provided with a Certificate of Identification bearing his photograph, index fingerprint and signature. He will thereafter be required to carry the certificate with him at all times.

In announcing the new regulaions the Attorney General said:

"The objective of the Department of Justice in issuing identification certificates to aliens of enemy nationalities is the dual one of strengthening our internal safety and protecting the loyal alien even if he has become technically an alien enemy. The plan for issuing these certificates was worked out after consultation with Lieut. Gen. J. L. DeWitt, Commander of the Ninth Corps Area.

"I want to make it clear that in no sense will our issuance of identification certificates be a re-registration of a portion of the alien population. We are entirely satisfied with the results of the 1940 national registration of aliens, and this new procedure will not duplicate it. We deem it essential, however, for the protection of loyal alien enemies as well as for our own national safety, to obtain supplementary information of all German, Italian and Japanese non-citizens and provide them with identification certificates bearing their photographs.

Mrs. Evans' Final Rites Tomorrow

DEATH CAME YESTERDAY TO PIONEER RESIDENT

The long and useful life of Mrs. Florence Evans, 87, one of Nevada City's oldest and most esteemed residents, came to a close yesterday morning when she passed away at her home on Boulder Street.

The final rites or Mrs. Evans will be held at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning at her home, 112 Boulder Street, with Rev. David Ralston of the Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be beside her late husband, John Evans, in the Masonic Cemetery.

Mrs. Evans was born in Washington, Ohio, on May 14, 1854. When a child she came to California via the Isthmus of Panama with her parents, arriving in San Francisco on May 23, 1863.

Her father previously had been in California for his health and had returned to Ohio to bring his family here. The father at once time operated a blacksmith shop where the Peterson Service Station now stands on Broad and Commercial Streets.

When Evans first arrived here with his family, a home was established on Phelps Hill. The family moved into Nevada City three years later, however.

Mrs. Evans made Nevada City her home ever since her arrival here as a child. Her knowledge of the early history of the city was complete and she delighted to tell friends in later years of interesting and amusing incidents she remembered about Nevada City.

For the past 25 years Mrs. Evans had made her home at 112 Boulder Street.

The deceased leaves two sisters, Mrs. Henry Schroeder of Nevada City and Mrs. Fred Miller of Grass Valley. Grandchildren also survive.

Mrs. Vernie Deschwanden expects soon to join her husband, Tony Deschwanden at Happy Camp, where Deschwanden is employed.
